

Salary Prediction using IBM SPSS Modeler

PRESENTED BY : KANIKA SHARMA
ADITI SINGH PARMAR
MAHI RATHORE

INTRODUCTION

- Predictive analysis uses historical data to predict future outcomes.
- It uses statistical techniques and machine learning algorithms.
- It helps organizations make better decisions.
- Examples: weather prediction, sales prediction, salary prediction.

WHAT IS SALARY PREDICTION?

- Salary prediction estimates employee salary using available information.
- It analyzes factors affecting salary.
- The model learns patterns from previous data.
- It predicts expected salary values.

PROBLEM STATEMENT

Problem:

Companies need a method to estimate salaries based on employee information.

Solution:

Create a predictive model using IBM SPSS Modeler to estimate salary.

OBJECTIVES

- Predict employee salary accurately.
- Analyze important factors affecting salary.
- Build a machine learning model.
- Evaluate prediction performance.

DATASET DESCRIPTION

Dataset contains employee information:

- Age
- Experience
- Education
- Salary

Total records: Employee data samples

INPUT AND TARGET VARIABLES

Input Variables:

- Age
- Experience
- Education

Target Variable:

- Salary

Explanation:

Input variables help predict the target variable.

IBM SPSS MODELER FLOW

Salary_Data.csv

Var File

Type

Partition

70% 30%

Training Testing

Regression Apply Model

Evaluation

Analysis

TRAINING AND TESTING

Training Data (70%)

- Used for model learning
- Creates prediction rules

Testing Data (30%)

- Used for performance checking
- Measures model accuracy

RESULTS AND OUTPUT

Expected output:

- Predicted salary values
- Model accuracy
- Performance analysis
- Graphical representation

Benefits:

- Faster prediction
- Better decision making

CONCLUSION AND FUTURE SCOPE

Conclusion:

- Salary prediction was performed using IBM SPSS Modeler.
- Regression successfully predicts salary values.

Future Scope:

- Add more employee features
- Improve prediction accuracy
- Use advanced algorithms

Presented By : Kanika Sharma
Aditi Singh Parmar
MAHI rathore
Thank You
Presented By : Kanika Sharma
Aditi Singh Parmar
MAHI rathore

PRESENTED BY : KANIKA SHARMA
ADITI SINGH PARMAR
MAHI RATHORE